PHILIP
LUDWELL III'S
INTRODUCTION to
THE ORTHODOX CATECHISM

The Orthodox Confession of the Catholic and Apostolic Eastern Church, [compiled by Petr Mogila, Metropolitan of Kiev.] faithfully translated from the originals [by P. Lodvil].
— London 1762

General characteristics: The book is a slim brown leather bound volume of some 209 pages, printed in black ink. It has on the spine "Greek Church Orthodox Confession" and "London 1762". The front cover is marked only by a beautiful gold embossed crown.

Title page reads:

"The Orthodox Confession of the Catholic and Apostolic Eastern Church: Faithfully Translated from the Originals

Meditate upon these Things, give thyself wholly to them:—

Take heed unto thyself, and unto thy Doctrine; continue in them: For in so doing thou shalt save thyself.—

1 Tim. Iv. 15. & 16.

London

Printed in A.D. MDCC LXII "

The Translator To The Devout Christian Reader

Be pleased to accept this Labour of Love, of thine unworthy Fellow-Servant; who mindful of the Command, "When thou art converted, strengthen "thy Brethren," presenteth, with all Humility, these his Endeavours, for thine Attainment of the Truth, and everlasting Salvation: And, in return, assist him with thy Prayers, to the Throne of Grace and Mercy; that, whilst he offereth Instruction to others, he may so take Heed unto himself, that he become not a Cast-away.

Thus faith the Lord, Stand ye in the Ways, and see, and ask for the old Paths, where is the good Way, and walk therein, and ye shall find Rest for your Souls.

Jerem. Vi. 16.

Unto you that fear my Name, shall the Sun of Righteousness arise with healing in his Wings.

Mal. Iv. 2.
